BOARD OF EDUCATION CONTEMPLATES MAKING A CHANGE

Large School Building at the Car Works Will Probably be Moved to the Rear of the High School Building—Last Year the Present Building Was Too Small to Accommodate the Students, and With the Increase of Those Who Graduated This Year from the Eighth Grade Extra Room Will be Required.

The board of education has been called upon to face the question as to what it shall do for room for the high school. The past year the enrollment was much larger than it had ever been before. Superintendent Dyer reported to the board that all departments were much crowded and it is said by some that they had to have some of the freshmen on the back books in order to find room for them, that class being especially large, having enrolled in it 189 pupils. The school authorities place the minimum estimate for next year at 200. The question is what shall be done with them? It is proposed to bring down the school building from Burton car works, move it in behind the high school, and the question is solved.

Several years ago, when the car works were in full blast, the city constructed a very commodious and excellent school house in the domain of that portion of its jurisdiction. But times have changed and now broad and fertile farms extend on all sides of this temple of learning. The strength of the movement toward concentration is well shown by the fact that this school has now but few pupils while the high school is overflowing. The scholars at the down-town schools will have to be packed away like sardines in a box, while the building sits in the midst of a corn field. The sentiment of the people seems to be that whatever is done, some arrangement should be made so that our schools will not be discontinued. The school at Burton will not be discontinued, but that purpose as a merely nominal figure.

NO OFFICES CREATED.
Owing to a misunderstanding on the part of the reporter in the account of the meeting of the board of education on Monday night, they were represented as creating a new office and employing a new man for it at an increased expense to the city. The fact is that at the meeting of the board two weeks ago they employed one less teacher than was employed last year. The schedule of salaries was changed so as to correct some irregularities that existed last year, but they did not materially increase the total pay roll. No new office was created and the title of assistant principal of the high school was changed to that of assistant superintendent. The board of education is composed of conservative business men who may be trusted not to add to the burdens of the taxpayers any way unless it is absolutely necessary in order to maintain the present high standard of our schools.

SUNDAY CONCERT GIVEN.
Entertainment provided for Riverside Park.
For the benefit of Wichita citizens, our company have made arrangements with the Second Regiment band, giving each Sunday afternoon at Riverside park a series of concerts which will be perfectly free to all. These concerts are given in the state that is believed that these concerts will be largely attended and enjoyed by all. A number of lights will be placed in the grounds for the benefit of those who desire to remain for the evening. The electric railway company will provide ample facilities for cars, and have also placed numerous seats throughout the grounds, and with plenty of water running will be in the way of making the necessary preparations, and it all depends whether or not the citizens of Wichita will appreciate their efforts. Don't forget the concert next Sunday afternoon. Tell your family to prepare a picnic. Take your family and go out and get a breath of fresh air. Here the best band in the state discursing popular music. You will get up Monday morning feeling better and your family will enjoy the afternoon. If the attendance should be good, the concerts will be kept up during the summer.

FIXING THEIR GRIP

DEMOCRATS CATCH ON FOR THE CAMPAIGN'S TUG OF WAR.

Resolutions in State Conventions for Free Silver are Drawn Uncommonly Strong—Idaho Democrats Lose Sight of the Financial Record of the Last Three Years and More of Grover and Clap the Whole Burden onto the Republican Party—Declarations of the Unfettered on the Financial Question.

Pocatello, Idaho, June 16.—The Democratic state convention today adopted the following resolutions:
"Whereas, The Democrats of Idaho are profoundly impressed with the overshadowing importance of the financial question and believe that all these political questions should be subordinated to this one, therefore, be it
"Resolved, That we affirm our devotion to the principles of Democracy as taught by Jefferson and Jackson and that we demand the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, as such coinage existed prior to 1876, without waiting for the action of any other nation on earth, such gold and silver to be full legal tender for all debts, public and private."
"Resolved, That we hail with delight the efforts of the masses of the Democratic party now being made in so many of our sister states to emancipate themselves from the domination of the Republican financial policy which has been the cause of so much distress and destitution and that in these brethren and friends of silver everywhere, we send greeting and urge that their colors never be lowered until the battle is won."

The following delegates were elected: B. H. Clark, Shoshone county; Joseph C. Rich, Benewah; George V. Bryan, Blaine; Tim Egan, Ada; H. C. Shaffer, Latah; delegates-at-large, W. M. H. Watt, Shoshone; national committee-man, George Annals.
It is considered that the convention will declare for the free coinage of silver. B. J. Adcox of Missouri was nominated for congress from the Seventh district.

DEMOCRATS FIGHT IT OUT.
Opposing San Francisco Delegation in the State Convention.
Sacramento, June 16.—The California state Democratic convention met today at this afternoon. The main feature of the opening session was the fight for recognition between opposing delegations from San Francisco, one representing the so-called "junta," the other supporting the old regime of Christopher Buckley, the blind ex-governor of San Francisco. The Buckley men broke into the convention hall before the doors were opened and occupied the San Francisco seats. When the delegates were called to order there was a long and lively fight between candidates from the opposing factions. Finally Frank H. Gould of Stockton, representing the junta, was elected.

LOUISIANANS ARE LOGICIANS.
They Demonstrate Bimetallism Along With Declaring for It.
Baton Rouge, La., June 16.—The Democratic state convention at a late hour today accepted a platform including the following:
"Resolved, That we are in favor of the soundest and best money that the ingenuity of man can invent. As experience has shown that the standard consists of both gold and silver, at equal rates of coinage and full equal legal tender power on a basis of sixteen ounces of silver to one of gold, the delegates from this convention to Chicago are instructed to support a platform in the national platform declaring for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at said ratio."
The delegates are instructed to vote as a unit.

DEMOCRATS AT OTTAWA, KAN.
Chairman Advises Congressional Union With Populists.
Ottawa, Kan., June 16.—The Democratic state convention met today at this morning. Chairman W. A. DeFord spoke briefly, counseling mutual alliance with the Populist convention on a platform for congress, declaring for silver at 16 to 1. The adjournment to 4 p. m. was taken.

IN THE CREDENTIALS COMMITTEE.
There is a Hot Contest Over the Reopening of Content Cases.
St. Louis, Mo., June 16.—It was learned that after the session on credentials adjourned, the debate engendered was of a rather bitter character. Of those who spoke for the resolution to reopen the content cases, W. H. Sullivan of New York alone refused from asking an attack upon the McKinley managers. The full text of the resolution offered by Mr. Cowan of Nebraska follows:
"Resolved, That the roll of delegates and alternates prepared by the national committee for the purpose of temporary organization be, and the same is hereby adopted by this committee as the true and correct roll of delegates and alternates to the convention and that the committee proceed with the hearing of the contents referred to by the national committee, viz: Delegates and alternates from Delaware and those at large from the state of Texas."
W. H. Hepburn of Iowa moved to substitute, that the secretary be instructed to obtain from the national committee all papers and documents filed before them on contents for seats in the convention and that thereupon the committee dispose of all contents in alphabetical order.
Speaking for the adoption of a substitute, Mr. Sutherland of New York, himself a member of the national committee, said the position of the candidates should not enter into the matter. The national committee in one of two cases, had voted to seat one delegation, then had reversed its decision by a very close vote. This was evidence enough that New York's regular organization should have a hearing before the committee appointed by the convention.
"The proper thing," said Mr. Sutherland, "is to have done in this matter would have been to force the convention to have done away with the committee on credentials altogether."
He then continued in a sarcastic vein: "We could have restored the national committee, and the rule that would have been done away with the committee on credentials altogether."
Congressman Hepburn insisted that it was the right of all contestants to have a hearing before the committee on credentials. The only duty of the national committee, in the contest, was to pass upon the prima facie showing made by the contestants and give the states a temporary standing in the convention. Under the rules it was the duty of the credentials committee to investigate the merits of the claims to seats.
Congressman Allen of Utah spoke warmly: "Gentlemen, you are establishing a precedent that will come back to plague us."

He intimated that the report of the committee ought to be fought on the floor of the convention and as much delay was involved as that in case brought before the committee. He declared that the functions of the national committee were being infringed to a degree that left the convention little room to do, and at the next convention, the course followed by this one in the matter of credentials would be brought forward as the established usage. In close contests the national committee might select a presidential candidate. In conclusion he said: "This is only another step in building up the machine."

WHAT THE EARLY RISER SAW.
Convention Scenes in Street and Hall in Order of Occurrence.
St. Louis, June 16.—The day for opening the convention opened beautifully as could be desired. A good breeze from the north was blowing early in the morning and although the sun gave promise of being too warm for comfort, before the day was done, the cool winds made things bearable. The cyclone which demolished so many buildings was not an utterly unmitigated evil, for it left behind a succession of cool days, such as St. Louis has never known before at this time of year. Even the most ardent rooter for the good name of the Mount city admits the brand of weather which has prevailed since the cyclone through-out the place is superior to anything that ever came into this territory in the sunny month of June.

The convention this year is remarkable in one respect. A majority of delegates have arrived here very early in the day. Last night there was not at headquarters a room that was not closed and deserted at 1 o'clock and a majority of them shut up shortly after midnight. Early this morning delegates were up and at their business. Several were still at meetings held even before breakfast, but they speedily adjourned in favor of the dining room.

Among the Pennsylvania delegates Quay was the first one arriving. He had had nothing to say regarding the vote cast by Pennsylvania at her caucus last night, and when McKinley men claim as still a victory for the Canton candidate, he expressed himself as unimpressed. He expected the result to be a tie, and he was not disappointed. It was agreed upon yesterday, and which is as follows:
"The Republican party is unreservedly for sound money. It caused the enactment of the law providing for the assumption of specie payments in 1875; since then every dollar has been as good as gold. We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency, and we are in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver, except by international agreement, which we favor, and until such agreement can be obtained, the existing gold standard should be preserved. We favor the old regime of Christopher Buckley, the blind ex-governor of San Francisco. The Buckley men broke into the convention hall before the doors were opened and occupied the San Francisco seats. When the delegates were called to order there was a long and lively fight between candidates from the opposing factions. Finally Frank H. Gould of Stockton, representing the junta, was elected."

Mark Hanna also was up early, and brimming over with confidence in the ultimate success of McKinley. This belief in McKinley's nomination is not shared by Massachusetts men, who are very determined in their support of Reed. Such of them as were around their headquarters early this morning were certain that they will be to nomination at all this week, and when it is finally made McKinley will not be without a sporting chance of the coveted honor.

Editors at a majority of the delegations were very quiet in the early part of the morning. Caucusing over committee appointments, and adoption of the financial plank was over and delegates are all waiting for active procedure in convention hall.
There was joy in the camp of the New York delegation this morning when it was learned that Hanna, the McKinley manager, had given Platt the privilege of naming the candidate for vice president, and there was corresponding depression in the ranks of the New Jersey delegation, members of which had been counting on the nomination of Robert. Making great strides toward victory.
Even the Connecticut delegation felt a little sore over the matter although they had not been a unit for any one candidate.

From New York headquarters this morning information was given that until Morton's candidacy for the president was finally determined, there will be no mention made of New York's choice for vice president.
Indeed Platt had answered Hanna's offer direct by saying he could not consider the vice presidency until after the president was nominated.
This was taken to mean that a further effort will be made after the nomination of the president to secure the consent of Morton to use his name for the office of vice president.
And yet from very reliable source close to Platt it was said this morning "Platt will name a New York man, whose name has not been mentioned in the public press."
Rumor is busy this morning with the Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

Stomach
With severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came often and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine. Mrs. FERN BERRY, Leominster, Mass.

GIVES NEWS THROUGH DIFFICULTY

Lightning Brushed Aside in Order to Get the St. Louis Convention News.
The moon went down as red as blood last night. After it came a wild contest of the elements. Lightning danced and quivered on every side of the Electric office. The tin roofs were fairly ablaze. On any, or almost any other night there would be cause for fear, but not last night. There is no such thing as cowardice under certain circumstances. If there is such a thing as cowardice at all it is a physical condition. The Electric office was bathed in lightning about midnight and everybody bravely stood at his post. The Linotype operators sat at their machines trembling, while lightning beat around them like artillery. Nobody moved or would have moved if the warning roar of a tornado had been heard. Why? Simply because the readers of the Eagle wanted the news and all the boys knew it. It was one of the greatest lightning storms ever seen in Wichita or not word of the convention news had been lost. Not everybody knows that the Electric building is supplied with its own electric light plant and electric wires everywhere. Telephone, telegraph, alarm bells and messenger service. With all this electric magnetism one can appreciate the situation in the building on a night when the electric king rules everything. The telegraph operator in the building, as well as the operators at the Western Union sat for two hours in the midst of danger plucking from the elements the news from St. Louis. Like Ajax they defied the lightning, for the people wanted to know the drift of national opinion on national issues and the position of national characters with reference to the same. Few people have any idea of the work of getting news through difficulties. The Electric has two circuits during the convention. One of them is over its own wires; the other direct from the convention hall and national committee headquarters at St. Louis. A bolt of lightning strikes them, and it comes into the Electric office, but the operator does not stop any longer than to shake the shock off his fingers and never misses a word. The next thing he hears is that the wire is broken. He goes out and then he has to seek another route to St. Louis. In other words he walks around the storm belt getting a wire by way of Denver, St. Paul and Chicago to St. Louis or looking for a gap in the way of Galveston, Dallas or New Orleans. That is how the readers of the Eagle get their news from St. Louis this morning, and they will get every word of it. It frequently happens that when a newspaper wants to get news from New York or Wellington or Valley Center it simply asks Denver, they ask New York they ask Omaha and Omaha asks either one of the places mentioned by a round about route, or having a piece of wire cutting all the St. Louis news for the Eagle the Western Union does good service. At 2 o'clock this morning notwithstanding the electrical storm the Eagle had not missed a word of the convention news. The work as appreciated is evidenced by the fact that telegrams poured in all day yesterday from all over the southwest for thousands of extra copies. The men who are advertising are having a piece in both instances enterprise is rewarded. This double and complete service will be kept up during the convention. When the managing editor goes home every night he says: "Boys, get up a good paper and give the people all the news whether it is in favor or against us." A comparison with other papers will see that it is done. A similar double service direct to Chicago will be put in during the Democratic convention.

HE FOUND A BABY.
R. L. Kelso Discovers an Infant in a Plum Thicket.
T. B. Ferguson of the city tells of the excitement caused by the discovery of a lost Sunday morning by W. O. T. Kelso finding an infant naked and tied to a plum bush. The child proved to be that of Mrs. Hoover who was traveling in a wagon with a plum thicket in the name of Roberts. In speaking of the case, Mr. Ferguson gave the following particulars:
"Sunday morning R. L. Kelso of Watonga was out in the timber east of town and stopped in a plum thicket near the road to gather some of the fruit. He heard a cry resembling that of a baby coming from the thicket and upon investigation found a newly born babe under one of the plum branches, naked, with a string tied around its neck and fastened to the bush.
"The officers were immediately notified and started west in pursuit of a covered wagon which had been seen in the vicinity of the place where the child was found. The wagon was overtaken and its occupants, a man by the name of Roberts and his daughter, Mrs. Hoover, a widow, were brought back to Watonga. The woman says that the child is her's and that she left it in the bushes to dispose of it. The man stated that he knew nothing about the child; that the woman left the wagon and was away about thirty minutes. But such a story is rather doubtful. Such events do not transpire so quietly as that. The woman had been working at a Kingfisher hotel and was returning with her father to their home in G. county when this unusual crime was attempted. This affair is a revolving it hardly seems possible that there is in Oklahoma a person or persons who would attempt such a black crime. The parties are held for trial. The child is with its unnatural mother and doing well."

Was it not better for a man in a fair mind to set up one great light, or broad beam of knowledge, than to set up with a rashlight into every dark corner?—Bacon.

Is It Hot Enough For You?

Now don't get angry; come around this evening and have a glass of Orange Pilsener. The clerk will ask.

Is It Cold Enough For You?

Is it the best flavored, the most delicious soda you ever tasted? And if it is give him five cents and come again tomorrow night, and if it isn't give him nothing and don't let the clerk ask you again. We're not afraid to take this risk, you need not be.
